

Investigating the Social World

Analytical Essay

Overview

- ▶ You will write an essay of 2,500 words in length
- ▶ The key idea is to choose TWO frameworks introduced after Reading Week to analyze an issue or problem of your choice
- ▶ You are free to carry out any necessary outside/additional research; cite references properly (e.g., APA or MLA)
- ▶ You can come to my office hours to discuss your preliminary responses with me; the goal is not to give you a mark before the deadline but to clear any confusion

Questions

- ▶ Choose two of the investigative frameworks introduced in the module and describe how they could be applied to an issue or problem of your choosing
  - Rational choice
  - Psychosocial framings
  - Decolonizing social research
  - Intersectional sensibilities
  - Lived experience

- ▶ Discuss which of the two frameworks you choose is more compelling

Key tasks involved

- ▶ Describe the frameworks and present the issue at stake
- ▶ Make a case for how each of these two frameworks could offer insight to the issue
- ▶ Explain which of the two frameworks is more compelling

Step 1: Describe the frameworks

- ▶ Use a reading or two to explain how you define/understand these frameworks, focusing on the aspects of it that are most relevant to you
- ▶ Choose two frameworks only; in your dissertation, you might use more – but here you do not have the space

Step 2: Present the issue

You do not need to be exhaustive in describing the issue but you should make reference to some kind of source materials – such as academic or policy related research, a news article, and material from a grassroots organization or activist group.

Step 3: Make your case and compare

- ▶ Make a case for how these frameworks could offer insight to the issue – What questions would the framework allow you to ask and why might this be valuable?
  - You could point to areas of potential investigation
  - You could point to existing research on your topic that doesn't give the kind of insight you're interested in
  - You could point to research from that perspective on other issues that you find intriguing that might have relevance for your issue
- ▶ Explain which of these two frameworks is more analytically compelling – perhaps one framework can generate some more new insights than the other? Perhaps one framework can garner more empirical support than the other?

- ▶ It is not a traditional essay – no need to provide fully developed research questions here like you do for your dissertation; you are not making an argument or a full empirical analysis as such
- ▶ A few sentences of overview at the start and some concluding reflections would be enough; what is your key takeaway from thinking this through?

Reminders

- ▶ Before you start, read the guidance and questions carefully
- ▶ When you submit your essay
  - Attach the coversheet (available on Moodle)
  - Enter your student ID in the field of Submission Title on Turnitin
  - Submit your essay before midday, 21 April 2025

The screenshot shows the 'Submit Paper' section of a Turnitin submission interface. It includes a 'Submission Title' field with a red error icon and a blue help icon. Below it is a 'File to Submit' section with a blue help icon and a file upload area. The file upload area has a 'Files' button, a grid icon, a list icon, and a folder icon. A large dashed box contains a download icon and the text 'You can drag and drop files here to add them.' At the bottom right of the section is a blue 'ADD SUBMISSION' button. A note at the top right of the file upload area states 'Maximum file size: 100 MB, maximum number of files: 1'.

▼ Submit Paper

Submission Title ⓘ ⓘ

File to Submit ⓘ ⓘ Maximum file size: 100 MB, maximum number of files: 1

You can drag and drop files here to add them.